

Do Not Sell or Share My Personal Information

Residents of certain U.S. states have the right to opt out of the sale of their personal information and of its use for targeted advertising, referred to as "sharing" for cross-context behavioral advertising under California law. The rights available to you depend on your state of residence, but below we offer a single option to exercise them.

We do not receive money in exchange for your personal information. However, our advertising partners and we use certain personal information to deliver advertising tailored to your interests. State privacy laws define "sale," "sharing" and "targeted advertising" broadly, and this activity may fall within those definitions. Regardless of how it is characterized, you can opt out at any time.

You can learn more about the personal information we collect and the rights available to you in our Privacy Policy.

How to opt out

You can use either of the following options:

1. Email us at support@learnbite.app with the subject line "Do Not Sell or Share My Personal Information."
2. Open our Consent Management Platform and select "Do not sell or share my personal information."

We do not require you to verify your identity in order to act on an opt-out request. You may also use an authorized agent to submit a request on your behalf, where your state's law permits.

What happens when you opt out

Opting out will disable targeted advertising delivered by our third-party partners, which means we will no longer share your personal information with them to customize your advertising experience. You may still see advertisements that are not tailored to your activity on non-affiliated websites, applications and online services.

Please note that your cookie preferences are domain- and browser-specific. If you visit another of our domains, or replace, upgrade or use a different browser or device, you may need to opt out again on that domain or browser.

If you have any other questions or requests, please email us at support@learnbite.app.